

To Whom it May Concern:

In the interest of properly maintaining the democratic principles on which this country is based, and in recognition of the ubiquitous presence - and necessary use - of the internet in modern American daily life, I urge you keep strong net neutrality rules backed by Title II.

All the best,
Allison Boese